Admiral Anderson Cooperates With Minister Of Marine In Relief Work

By Associated Press
Washington—Reporting that an epidemic of fever had broken out at Tokio, Ambassador Woods, in a cable to the state department Monday said it was imperative that one million dollars of American Red Cross funds be placed immediately at the disposal of its relief committee in Japan for the quick purchase of medical supplies and food from nearby markets.

Ambassador Woods also reported the appointment of the Red Cross relief committee in his message, which read:

In accordance with instructions have appointed American Red Cross relief committee with Admiral Anderson (commander-in-chief of the American Asiatic fleet) as chairman. Imperative to have immediate disposal this committee one million dollars Red Cross funds for quick purchase urgently needed medical supplies and food from nearby markets. An epidemic of fever of severe type has already broken out in Tokio. Request supply immediately.

Tokio—Fear of typhoid fever and other epidemics in Tokio has caused American physicians here to advise their nationals to leave the city unless their business is most urgent. While the water supply is rapidly being brought back to normal conditions, it is still far from sanitary.

There is the deepest appreciation throughout Japan for the prompt response from the United States and other countries to the distress of the thousands of refugees. Admiral Anderson of the United States Asiatic fleet is closely cooperating with Admiral Takahara, minister of marine, in the work of relief. A number of British ships have arrived with food and medicine.

The efficiency of the Japanese military control in enlisting the cooperation of civil authorities is increasingly evident. Order has been restored and the work is along the lines of relief and reconstruction.

It is announced H. G. Parrott, counselor of the British embassy, for whose safety some apprehension was felt is unharmed.

OSHKOSH WOMAN IS SLAIN IN ACCIDENT

Victim Catapulted From Automobile To Curb; Neck Is Broken

By Associated Press
Oshkosh—Mrs. Mabel Nichola, 48, was killed Saturday evening when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another. Jesse R. Brace, with whom Mr. and Mrs. Nichola were riding, was arrested at once and kept in custody until Sunday morning, when he was released upon request of the husband of the victim.

The death of Mrs. Nichola was caused by her being thrown from Mr. Brace's machine when it collided with that of R. E. Martin. She was catapulted from the car to the curb, a distance of fifteen feet, striking on her head and breaking her neck. The ambulance was called but life had left her body before the hospital was reached.

The accident happened during a trout of a new car purchased Saturday afternoon by Mr. Brace.

STATE HEALTH BOARD CAN NOT SHUT DOWN SCHOOLS

By Associated Press
Madison—The state board of health is without authority to close school buildings "even if careful inspection reveals them to be unfit for school purposes and an actual menace to the health and lives of school children and teachers," the attorney general ruled in an opinion to Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer.

The board can inspect the buildings and recommend changes, but cannot order buildings condemned and closed, the ruling held.

MINE ARBITER TURNS EYE ON COAL PROFITS

Pinchot Says Owners Can Carry 60 Per Cent Increase And Still Make Gain

By Associated Press
Harrisburg, Pa.—Governor Pinchot, successful in his efforts to bring about a settlement of the anthracite controversy Monday turned his attention to coal profits.

His four point plan for adjustment of the differences between anthracite operators and union miners formed the basis of a proposed new two-year contract agreed on Saturday night by members of the operators' policy committee and officials of the Miners' union. He took up the price problem in a letter to President Coolidge in which he suggested federal and state action toward readjustment of freight rates on anthracite and announced his purpose of calling on governors of all anthracite-consuming states to investigate profits of dealers in coal—wholesalers, brokers, jobbers and retailers.

In his letter, Governor Pinchot declared the total "legitimate increase in the cost of coal under the settlement terms would be about 60 cents a ton. Of this, he said, not less than 10 cents should be taken up by all the operators, many of whom, he declared, could absorb the entire 60 cents increase and still make abundant profits.

"In fairness," he wrote "the remainder of the 60 cents should never reach the consumer," but he added, "this amount and probably much more will be exacted unless public action is taken to prevent it."

Reopening of the mines is dependent only on ratification by a tri-district convention of union miners in the anthracite region Sept. 17.

WAVES CLAIM BLIND AND CRIPPLED TAR

By Associated Press
Santa Barbara, Calif.—A tragedy which ended in death was enacted aboard the destroyer Delphy which went ashore 75 miles north of Santa Barbara Saturday night with six other destroyers of the battle fleet. This tragedy resulted in the death of Seaman Pearson.

As the Delphy crashed bow first into the rugged rocks, Pearson was thrown down a ladder and both legs were broken. His comrades brought him on deck. There he was blinded by oil from bursting fuel pipes. Nearly crazed by pain and desperation he resisted efforts of his shipmates to rig up a breeches buoy to rescue him. The vessel began to break up and his comrades were forced to lash him to a mast in the hope of returning later to take him off. Other injured were taken ashore and just as the last man, except Pearson, was safe on the mainland, the Delphy broke in two and slid beneath the waves, with Pearson crying piteously for help.

Monday as parts of the wrecked destroyer were being dashed to and fro in the boiling surf, Pearson's comrades said they could distinguish his haggard face through the white and black of the sea.

Two Autos Crash, Hit Girl Afoot

A child trudging home from Sunday school in town of Deer Creek Sunday morning was the innocent victim of a collision of two automobiles in which the occupants of neither was injured except for a shaking up.

The child was Beatrice Wied, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wied. She is in a critical condition at a physician's home at Clintonville.

Theodore Anderson of Marion was driving a Ford sedan on county trunk highway D, between Bear Creek and Maple Creek. Reports say that a Buick touring car driven by James Kingston of Clintonville came up from the rear and began to pass the sedan. The Kingston car caught the fender of Anderson's machine and swung it around.

The little girl happened to be alongside the car at the time, walking on the right side of the road. The Anderson auto struck and threw her and then crashed into a telephone pole, breaking it off.

The girl was taken to Clintonville by Mr. Kingston. An examination showed that she suffered a broken collar bone, crushed chest, several broken ribs and an injured hip. One lung also was torn, it was said.

FALCK HOTEL FIRE BAFFLES SEYMOUR MEN

Appleton Company Helps Check Flames In Sunday Blaze—Rescue Proprietors

An obstinate fire damaging the Falck hotel of Seymour to the extent of approximately $7,000 or $8,000 baffled the Seymour and Appleton fire departments for several hours Sunday morning. A part of the loss was covered by insurance.

The No. 2 triple combination truck of the Appleton department was summoned to help extinguish the fire and prevent it from spreading, which on several occasions it threatened to do.

George Falck, the proprietor, and his wife, were asleep at the time of the fire and had to be carried out by the ladder by the Seymour firemen. Several transients also were awakened from their sleep by the fire commotion.

IGNITED QUICKLY

The fire started some time after 5 o'clock Sunday morning. It reached a good start for five minutes before the alarm was sounded, residents could see no evidence whatever of a fire. No blaze was visible for hours. In fact, and the column of smoke was hard to trace to its source.

A pile of rubbish, boards and bags in the basement was probably the starting place of the fire which spread considerably by a draft proceeding through a clothes chute. Smoke and gas forcing out in great quantity held back the firemen.

After the Seymour firemen fought the smoke and gas for considerable time, a call was sent in at 8:55 for apparatus of the Appleton department. The Appleton truck arrived in 38 minutes.

DAMAGE EXTENSIVE

Before the blaze was extinguished near 11 o'clock, the rear part of the hotel was totally wrecked, a hole of about 20 by 25 feet was burned in the roof, and the basement joists were charred. Because the building was of brick, the flames were kept well pent.

For a time the Seymour postoffice was endangered, and all the fixtures and supplies were moved out of the building, but it incurred no damage other than through the heavy moving. Household furniture of William Burge and the rear of a millinery store also was moved.

The building consisted of two stories and basement and had been built about 25 years ago.

Spectators had been attracted to the fire from miles around, even from Black Creek, Hortonville and Appleton, as it was rumored that the entire city of Seymour was a fire.

BUSY EVENING PROVIDED FOR STYLE OPENING

Public Is Urged To Turn Out For Parade, Auto Show, Displays And Dance

Appleton Advertising club, which has the Appleton Fall Style week in charge, is putting the finishing touches on its program for Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The most busy places are the stores, where the new fall goods are being unpacked and arranged in windows, and in inside displays, in showcases and on the counters ready for inspection.

Everybody is asked by L. A. Buchman, chairman of the opening, to set aside Wednesday evening as a period which will be spent downtown. The peep at the clever fashions for fall will in itself attract many people but for those who like a lively evening other things will be in progress.

The program will be as follows:

7:15—Turning on of window lights at same time at all stores for style exposition and word and essay contest.

Start of auto parade from armory, headed by 120th Field Artillery band.

7:45—Opening of auto show at Soldiers' dispensary.

Inspection of windows downtown.

8:45—Pavement dance at College-ave and Morrison.

The parade will proceed west on College-ave to the boulevard and return. It will have a long column of shiny new cars, the latest fall models, which will be mostly closed cars. These will be shown by the dealers afterward at the square, where brilliant lighting will be carried out.

The block on Morrison-st between College-ave and Lawrence-st will be barricaded, swept and polished ready for the dance. The full Artillery band will play for the dance and auto show. A platform will be provided at the center of the block for the musicians.

LINEMAN IS HURT BADLY IN PLUNGE

Strap Breaks And Sends Walter Cornwell Headlong From High Pole

Walter Cornwell, New London, while working for the Star Light Heat and Power company was seriously injured Sunday when he fell from a 25-foot electric light pole near New London.

Cornwell had climbed the pole near the William Moeller farm, two miles north of New London, in order to repair a transformer, when the linemen's strap which held him suddenly broke and caused him to drop head first to the ground.

He landed on his left shoulder and then on his forehead. His left shoulder blade and collar bone were broken. His spine also was slightly injured. The surgeons do not think his skull is fractured, although his skull is severely bruised.

The injured man was rushed to St. Elizabeth hospital in Appleton in an unconscious state. Monday morning he had partially regained consciousness.

Cornwell is manager and secretary of the Star Light Heat and Power company which supplies patrons in Bear Creek and between Bear Creek and New London.

ONE DEAD, 7 HURT IN RAILWAY CRASH

By Associated Press
Roanoke, Va., J. P. Tolley, fireman of Roanoke, was killed, and seven persons were injured when a Norfolk and Western southbound freight train left the tracks a few miles north of Roanoke Monday morning and ploughed into a rock quarry, where a number of men were at work.

This city still can go a long ways in doing its share for the homeless, disease ravaged people whom the elements have placed in torment. All money collected here will be turned over to the Red Cross fund of $5,000,000, which needs another million in order to make it complete.

Cheques should be made payable to Japanese Relief Fund and three and cash gifts should be deposited either at the chamber of commerce or Post-Crescent office.

Seven Destroyers Held Fast Aground On Reefs Off California Coast

One Boat Turns Turtle And Sinks With All Aboard In 1 Minutes 37 Seconds

QUAKE MIGHT BE CAUSE
Naval Craft Attracted By Loads Of Survivors From Damaged Passenger Vessel

By Associated Press
Santa Barbara, Calif.—Twenty-three sailors dead and fifteen injured; seven destroyers of the Pacific squadron of the battle fleet held fast between rocks off Point Arguelle light in the Pacific ocean between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

These were outstanding consequences Monday of the navy's major marine disaster in Pacific waters. The injured were being nursed at hospitals here; a trainload of survivors was headed for San Diego, the naval base, while the seven ships were fast approaching total wrecks by the pounding of the surf.

The warships went ashore while cruising from San Francisco to San Diego Saturday night shortly after 9 o'clock in a dense fog. Mistaken position in relation to the coast line is believed to have caused the crash. The destroyers were speeding through the fog hugging the shore in single file formation when they piled up on the rocks from 200 to 500 yards apart about 300 yards off shore.

SHIP TURNS TURTLE

The fatalities were divided among two destroyers. Seven were from the Delphy and the others died on the destroyer Young, which turned turtle and sank in one minute and 37 seconds. The other destroyers, the S. P. Lee, Nicholas Fuller, Chauncey and Woodbury, went aground in a position which gave their officers and crews a better chance than was afforded the other craft.

The Pacific coast line between San Francisco and San Diego juts into the ocean between Honda and Point Arguelle where the vessels were wrecked. The naval wrecks came while the destroyer Reno had left the cruising line, attracted by open boatloads of survivors from the wrecked S. S. Cuba, a passenger vessel. The Cuba went ashore off San Miguel island, twelve hours before, and its survivors were picked up by the Reno, except one boat load.

The remaining boat, was picked up by the Standard Oil tanker, W. H. Miller, in the Santa Barbara channel, while its occupants were rowing out to sea in a dense fog, under the impression they were headed for shore. The Miller towed the boat to San Francisco. The Reno landed its survivors at San Pedro Sunday night.

Pinchot's Success In Coal Strike May Make Him G. O. P. Candidate

By Associated Press
Washington—Governor Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania, for vice-presidency of the United States on the Republican ticket with President Calvin Coolidge. That's the talk here Monday following immediately upon the news of the governor's successful mediation in the hard coal controversy, sparing the nation a strike of serious proportions.

Mr. Coolidge is lavish in his praise of the Pennsylvania governor. He wants everybody to know how much he appreciates Mr. Pinchot's work. When the Pennsylvania first came to the White House to volunteer his services, political folk wondered why Mr. Coolidge at the outset of his administration should pass up an opportunity to gain some prestige for himself. But there is ingrained in Mr. Coolidge's mind a wholesome respect for state governments as he himself has been the governor of Massachusetts. He feels as have others in the federal government that one of the difficulties America has had to face in recent years was a tendency to run to the White House with every industrial controversy of major importance. States have not used their legal or moral influence as effectively as they might have done. There have been exceptions as for instance, Henry Allen in Kansas, but in the main the federal government has been constant in its search for a mediator for the last 10 years. Many strikes have been averted, and the work of conciliation has been effective but with the powerful influence of state governments wielded by courageous governors it is felt here that even more progress might have been made.

CHICAGO TOT DIES OF POISONED CANDY

By Associated Press
Chicago—Candy purchased in a neighborhood store yesterday is declared to have caused the death of Joyce Spengler, 4 years old and made her 21 months old brother, Robert, so ill that he was not expected to live.

Physicians said they believed the candy contained some virulent poison, and detectives seized two pounds remaining in the store for chemical analysis today.

The little girl took her brother later in the afternoon to the candy store, which is a few doors from her home. She purchased three pieces of confectionery made by one of the city's best known manufacturers. She ate two pieces and gave the third to Robert.

EATS SECOND PIECE, DIES

Immediately after getting of the second piece the little girl was stricken with convulsions. Meantime her brother began to roll about in agony. Neighbors helped the children into their home and Mrs. Leslie F. MacDiarmid and Daniel W. Handlin were called.

The little girl died before they could give first aid. The physicians then called the Fillmore avenue police and continued to work over the other child.

Both physicians told Serge. John Dempsey and Hugh Smith they were of the opinion that the candy was the cause of the girl's death. They said all the symptoms pointed to poison.

Dempsey and Smith then went to the storekeeper and told him to give them the two pounds of candy which he still had in stock. This, together with the vital organs of the dead child, will be sent to the laboratory of Coroner's Chemist William D. McNally for analysis to learn what poison, if any, the candy contained.

REPUBLICANS CONSIDER MINE MEDIATOR AS NOMINEE FOR VICE-PRESIDENCY IN 1924 CAMPAIGN

By Associated Press
Washington—Governor Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania, for vice-presidency of the United States on the Republican ticket with President Calvin Coolidge. That's the talk here Monday following immediately upon the news of the governor's successful mediation in the hard coal controversy, sparing the nation a strike of serious proportions.

Mr. Coolidge is lavish in his praise of the Pennsylvania governor. He wants everybody to know how much he appreciates Mr. Pinchot's work. When the Pennsylvania first came to the White House to volunteer his services, political folk wondered why Mr. Coolidge at the outset of his administration should pass up an opportunity to gain some prestige for himself. But there is ingrained in Mr. Coolidge's mind a wholesome respect for state governments as he himself has been the governor of Massachusetts. He feels as have others in the federal government that one of the difficulties America has had to face in recent years was a tendency to run to the White House with every industrial controversy of major importance. States have not used their legal or moral influence as effectively as they might have done. There have been exceptions as for instance, Henry Allen in Kansas, but in the main the federal government has been constant in its search for a mediator for the last 10 years. Many strikes have been averted, and the work of conciliation has been effective but with the powerful influence of state governments wielded by courageous governors it is felt here that even more progress might have been made.

QUESTION OF POWER

There is also the question of power. States have almost unlimited rights under their constitutions. The national government, for example, could not seize and operate coal mines by sheer force of law. This point was cleared up for President Harding by constitutional experts a year ago. Mr. Pinchot had always the threat of state operation to hold over warring factions in the anthracite industry.

The president played no politics in handling the coal strike or he would have attempted mediation himself. On the other hand, the fact that there is to be no strike removes a source of discontent which might have been charged to the failure of the federal government to intervene. Notwithstanding Mr. Coolidge's attitude of giving the Pennsylvania governor free rein, the political phases of the episode have grown in number. No outstanding candidate for the vice-presidency had been mentioned among the politicians until Governor Pinchot got into the limelight with the coal strike negotiations. There has always been the suggestion that along with Mr. Coolidge who is held to be of the conservative type of Republican, a running-mate should be chosen with an appeal to the so-called progressive elements in the Republican party. Governor Pinchot was one of the original Roosevelt Progressives. His controversy with Secretary of the Interior Ballinger of the Taft administration over the conservation of natural resources stirred up the entire west. So Governor Pinchot, it is reasoned, would balance the Republican ticket nicely.

ON THE SCREEN

LAOING, DIRECTION. AT NEW PEAK

"Thorns and Orange Blossoms" a picture of Bertha M. Clay's novel and stage play has been made into a moving picture. That announcement will be sufficient to all the Elite theatre where it opened today for its local run. The original story represents one of the most famous pieces of fiction ever written. The picture however does not rely upon the book's reputation but stands solidly by itself as a great film.

Under less capable hands "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" might have suffered but B. P. Schulberg, the producer, has mustered the best talent available for its screen translation. Gantner, director of "Kismet" and of "Rich Men's Wives," has given the place a fine technical replete with drama and human interest. The cast is as suitable and capable as could possibly have been found. Moreover, local movie fans will be pleased to hear that three of their favorites are included therein. Kenneth Harlan plays the part of the young American whose affections are divided between a Spanish prima donna and a little American girl. The fascinating foreigner and her lovely rival are portrayed respectively by Estelle Taylor, heroine of "Monte Cristo" and Edith Roberts, a featured player in DeMille's "Saturday Night."

The settings of Spain and Louisiana are beautiful and picturesque enhanced by photography that is in itself a rare achievement. The production standards rank so high. The picture might well be classed in the category of "better films" of which producers have been talking lately.

"PERFECT MAN" IS LEAD TO KATHERINE MACDONALD

Katherine MacDonald has "the most physically perfect man on the stage or screen" as her leading man in her latest starring vehicle.

At least, that is what Elmer Glyn calls Orville Caldwell, six feet three inches in height, who plays opposite the American Beauty in "The Lonely Road," the first national picture which is coming to the Elite theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. It is a B. P. Schulberg production.

In fact, Miss MacDonald has a splendid supporting cast for the entire production. Other players of note who appear with her are Kathleen Kirkham, Eugene Bessner, William Conklin, James Neill, Frank Leigh and Charles French.

"The Lonely Road" was directed by Victor Schertzinger. It is an adaptation of Charles Leque's original story of the same name. It presents Miss MacDonald as a misunderstood wife, who, though loving her husband, finds herself unable to assimilate his narrow viewpoint of what a married woman should be.

Finding that marriage has completely deprived her of independence, she leaves him and her act leads to the dramatic denouement of the photoplay.

ALMOST LOST THEIR SON

At noon Saturday some people almost lost their son in more than one sense of the phrase. I was coming from town when I saw a car turn the corner at College-ave and Richmond st and a little boy fly out of the door to the pavement. It was just the presence of mind of the driver of another car that saved the boy from being run over. When he fell out of the car, the boy landed on the back of his head.

JUST ANOTHER "CRASH"

At about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, I heard a crash at the corner of Pacific and Union streets and hurried out of the house to see what had happened. A Ford runabout which belonged to the marble works and a Buick car driven by A. Tucker had collided. The runabout was going north on Union and the other car east on Pacific-st. There was an argument about who was at fault which resulted in taking names of owners and numbers of cars.

INSTALL NEW SAFE FOR RECORD OF ASSESSOR

The new fire-proof safe for the office of A. C. Rule, city assessor, which was ordered a few weeks ago by the city council from Sylvester and Nielsen, was being moved to the city hall Saturday. The contract price for the safe was $445.00.

Hitherto Assessor Rule had only a wooden cabinet for his records. Loss of the records by fire would naturally have been a serious one. The safe contains all the necessary compartments for assessment books, field book, field cards and other records.

DEPOSIT PROTECTS LOCKERS AT H. S.

Deposits amounting to $564 were paid by students on the lockers which have been equipped with special locks at Appleton high school. The total number of lockers in use is something less than 1,000 and it was expected that the rest of the deposits would be paid by the end of last week.

Each locker according to the new plan is equipped with a lock and key for which the student gives a deposit of $1 at the beginning of the year. If at the end of the year no damage has been done to the equipment, the deposit is returned. Damage to the locker will be deducted from the deposit.

Each section of lockers has a caretaker who has a master key and for the sum of two cents a turn. He will open the locker for those unfortunate who forget or lose their keys. The fee for opening the locker must be paid in cash without delay. It is expected that by means of this system a great deal of the petty thievery which is always experienced in cloakrooms and lockers will be prevented.

Woe To Ducks!

Approximately 500 Licenses Have Been Issued In County For Opening of Duck Hunting Season Next Sunday—Fees for Deer are Changed by New State Game Laws.

With the opening of the wild duck hunting season but a week hence, hundreds of hunters are preparing for the annual exodus to their favorite hunting resorts. It is estimated that 400 or 500 hunting licenses have thus far been issued by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, and his sub-agents. The duck hunting season this year will open on Sunday, Sept. 16, and continue for three months. The bag limit is 15 a day.

The resident hunting license fee is $1, with the deer tag 50 cents additional. The price of the deer tag has been raised from 25 cents to 50 cents. Only persons who have lived in the state for at least one year are eligible for the license. The settling license for persons who have moved into the state and lived here at least 60 days may be secured at the same fee. Non-resident licenses are sold at $25, or $50 for deer, which also permits the holder to hunt small game.

From time to time Appleton residents have availed themselves of this service and have profited by it.)

The People's Aid: We, the boys of the Third ward, would like to know what the Third ward school grounds are for. Seeing that Jones park is too muddy, where are we to play? About two months ago, a certain man, on Cherry-st complained about playing there. On my own account I didn't see any reason for complaining. We cannot play in the streets because the ball will break a window. If we get hit by a car, we get no compensation. What are the school children to expect when schools starts? After this, instead of playing a clean and healthy game of ball, we will chase the streets until midnight. The boys would like to ask the city engineer what we are to do. I am sure many people of this city would take our side. The first ward school is one of the best schools in the city. It also has one of the best playgrounds. I think if the boys in the first ward can play in the ground, why can't we? Please answer us.

Boys of the Third Ward. This letter was referred to A. G. Koch, director of the Third district school board, and received the following answer:

Boys are permitted to play ball on the school grounds during school hours and under the surveillance of the principal. To prevent the balls from spoiling the neighbors' gardens, it has been suggested that boys play in the vacant school property of the Third ward, located at Spencer and Outagamie-sts.

NEENAH TO STOP STREET FREIGHTS

Mayor Dennhardt Objects to Interurban Freight Cars on Streets

That the Eastern Wisconsin Electric company has no legal right to operate freight cars on its tracks in the city of Neenah, is the opinion of Mayor J. H. Dennhardt of that city. Mayor Dennhardt, who is prepared to take the matter before the city council, says that the company's franchise does not give it the right to run freight cars and that in so doing without the city's permission, it is violating its franchise.

It is the mayor's opinion that the company has already violated its franchise by discontinuing its local street car service, one of the considerations upon which the franchise was originally granted.

It was the city executive's plan to present the matter to the council and then to give the company official notice to desist. He is said to be willing to take legal steps to stop the violation if necessary.

INSTITUTIONS OF LUTHERANS SHOWN

The Rev. W. A. Eggert of Wausau gave an instructive illustrated lecture Friday evening at Mount Olive church on the educational institutions supported by the Wisconsin synod. There was a small attendance due to a heavy shower about the time the lecture was to commence.

Among the institutions that received special consideration was Northwestern college at Watertown. Others mentioned included the theological seminary at Wauwatosa, the proposed one to be erected at Milwaukee, and the teachers seminary at New Ulm, Minn.

In connection with the views of each a sketch was given as to the cost of construction, cost of operation and of the attendance and faculty. Views were shown also of the homes of the heads of the various institutions, gymnasium building and home of epileptic and feeble minded at Watertown, and the old people's home at Milwaukee.

BISHOP MITCHELL WANTS NEW FIELD

The Rev. J. H. Tippet was one of the four preachers who assisted Bishop Charles Bayard Mitchell at the Lord Supper service at the opening of the Methodist conference in Fond du Lac last week. In his address at that time, Bishop Mitchell expressed the hope that he would be transferred to another district. He said that he had served in this district eight years and he thought that period was long enough for any bishop to serve in one field.

More than 200 delegates took communion. Others who assisted the bishop were the Rev. Walter A. Hall, Fond du Lac; the Rev. F. J. Turner, Janesville and the Rev. H. C. Logan, Milwaukee.

CHIEF PRIM EXONERATED
The police and fire commission has made its report in the case recently brought against Chief Prim charging misuse of the police department automobile in connection with the visit of General Gouraud here in July. That they found the chief practically blameless seems to be in keeping with the facts brought out at the hearing, and, we believe, such a finding will meet with spontaneous approval. A reprimand of the chief on charges of such small magnitude would be entirely unwarranted. In fact, we believe, the entire proceeding was unwarranted and unjustified. The chief was undoubtedly acting in the best interests of the city of Appleton in providing protection to one of its distinguished guests even though it took him and the police car outside the confines of our city. It would be a deplorable situation if Appleton was to have a reputation of not furnishing adequate police protection to its famous visitors when such protection is charged for by those having the visit in charge.

It is interesting to note in the report of the commission its words of praise and commendation of the work of Chief Prim. He is referred to as a "very painstaking and efficient officer." This, we believe, not only voices the sentiment of the commission, but also that of a great majority of our citizens. It is often said that Appleton has the best police chief of any city in the state of Wisconsin. We believe this to be true. Surely his long record of notable captures of criminals, and the small amount of lawlessness which has happened in Appleton since he was installed as chief have earned for him an enviable reputation for efficient police work. That he is frequently subjected to embarrassment on the part of some of our city officials and citizens when the charges are unfounded or unwarranted is to be regretted. It is not the proper attitude to be shown toward the guardians of our peace and property. Appleton should be proud of its chief of police and its police department. Politics should not be mixed with police activities. Co-operation and not condemnation is what is needed.

LET US HAVE LIGHT ON THE COAL INDUSTRY
The threatened anthracite coal strike has been averted by the intervention of Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania. This is one instance where appeal to politics, and that is what the attitude of both the operators and miners amounted to, was successful. The miners are to receive the ten per cent increase in wages proposed by Governor Pinchot. They are also to enjoy the right of collective bargaining in the future and the eight hour day is established. These are concessions by the operators. The miners themselves make two important concessions, which are abandonment of the demand for the check-off of union dues and acceptance of a two year contract. Thus we have an agreement by compromise, which is what the facts and the differences between the opposing forces required. Each has taken a position that it could not hope to force in its entirety upon the other. Whatever credit is due the operators and the miners for this final display of conciliation, is about equally divided. The major credit is due the governor of Pennsylvania for his persistent and determined effort to compel them to get together.

Now that the scare is over, and there is to be no strike and the public is to pay in the neighborhood of a dollar per ton more for his hard coal, which is undoubtedly about a dollar more than it should pay, the question arises what has the country gained? The answer is that it has gained nothing. It is entitled to coal, therefore it has gained nothing by being supplied with coal. It is entitled to coal at a reasonable price and in this respect it loses. So far as the future is concerned no progress has been made toward a permanent settlement of industrial conditions in the hard coal field. There is just as much reason to expect another strike or strike scare in 1925 as there was this year. The only thing that will be of real benefit to the public, and it is time they had it, is a definite statement of facts regarding the anthracite industry and the causes of what consumers regard as an excessive price for coal.
This information can and should come from the United States Coal commission. This is what the commission was created for. Its report is unintelligible to the public. It has not established anything. It is technical and in such detail that conclusions cannot be reached with any degree of certainty or satisfaction. If the American people can get a clear understanding of the facts and of the issues they will not be long in making up their opinion as to what is right and what is wrong, and the force of that opinion would soon compel an adjustment of the coal industry to conform with it. The trouble is that the people are in the dark. We are inclined to think the operators and the miners are content to have the public in the dark, while politics never relishes much light on a subject that is debatable and arouses conflict of views and sympathies. Not until the public gets this information will the force that has been enacted in the anthracite industry for years at public expense be ended.

BLACK EYE FOR THE LEAGUE
Great Britain suspects that Italy's object in seizing Corfu and other islands on the Greek coast in the Ionian sea opposite Italy is to dominate the Adriatic. Italy would then tower over Albania and Yugoslavia directly, as it does, to some extent, indirectly over Bulgaria, Rumania and Turkey by its strategic situation in the Mediterranean. Moreover, the Fiume question is not yet decided, and it may hold these conquered islands until it obtains satisfaction not only from Greece, but other nations.

Greece is just beginning to convalesce from the Turkish war and, realizing her weakness, flies in distress to the League of Nations. The Balkan states cannot oppose Italy, as they have differences among themselves, and would take risks similar to those which Greece took with Turkey. Revolution threatens in Germany. France and Belgium recommitted to the Ruhr policy. Austria is busy trying to recuperate economically. Public sentiment in England is opposed to participation in another war. The United States exerts persuasion only in foreign affairs which do not immediately concern it.

Mussolini has notified Greece that the occupation of Corfu and neighboring islands is strictly a provisional measure. But if Italy has territorial expansion in mind, the League of Nations can only inter with force. This it is clear it will not do. Therefore, the incident closes with a League hearing a decidedly black eye. Reference of the dispute to the council of ambassadors may save the rest of its face after a fashion, but it will not hide the black eye.

SALT AND BLOOD PRESSURE
Restriction of the salt ration by a salt free or salt poor diet is a measure which has proved beneficial in many disease conditions, notably hyperchlorhydria (or excessive hydrochloric acid secretion in the stomach), epilepsy, diabetes, nephritis with dropsy (edema), arteriosclerosis attended with cases of plethoric (full blooded) obesity.
The herbivorous animals must have salt, but the carnivorous animal get enough salt in the flesh and blood of their prey. Man's salt requirements are determined by his diet but his use of salt as a condiment is determined by an artificially cultivated taste. Many of the luxuries or necklaces people like to indulge in are extremely salty.
Man requires about half a teaspoonful of salt daily, and takes from three to six times as much as he requires. The excess does various things to health. In the first place it causes the retention in the body of too much water, a condition which often mistakes for anemia, and is treated with iron. The excess of salt produces increased osmotic pressure in the tissues, which favors the development of edematous or dropsical states and of inflammations. The water loaded if not water logged condition of the tissues of one who takes too much salt effects the muscles, of course, and causes quick fatigue on moderate exertion or that tired feeling all the time.
Restrictions of the daily intake of salt has been found remarkably effective in reducing hypertension or excessive blood pressure. It has brought relief to annoying head noises to many sufferers, particularly those with some degree of nephritis. Restrictions of the salt intake for a period of two or three months often overcomes the boginess of the lining membrane of the upper air passages which constantly troubles some salt eaters and which they fondly call "catarrh."
Bread may be made without salt. Fresh meat requires no salt seasoning. Both bread and meat contain about half a day's ration of salt to the pound. Fresh water fish contains little salt, but sea fish contains much. An egg contains about four grains of salt, which is plenty. Fresh butter need not be salted. Potatoes or rice may be prepared in many palatable and healthful ways. Smoked bacon, corned beef, codfish, ham, salt pork, fresh or canned sea fish, dried or smoked fish, dried meats, shellfish, brick cheese, Swiss cheese, margarine, mustard, sausage, bouillon and meat extracts should not be eaten if one desires to restrict the salt ration.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Magnesia Chewer
By brother chews a block of magnesia after each meal. Is there any benefit to be derived or any danger from the practice?—D. C.
Answer—Magnesia is a comparatively harmless alkali, slightly cathartic in effect if much acid is present in the stomach. I should not advise chewing it as a habit, however, for that places a burden on the glands which secrete the hydrochloric acid in the stomach.
Great Albumen Specialist
Should eggs be eaten sparingly if one has albumen in the kidneys?—N. E. M.
Answer—We all have albumen in the kidneys. If you mean albumen in the urine, the eating of eggs has no bearing on that.
Do Not Salt Your Eyes
Some time ago I started bathing my eyes with strong salt water and ever since my eyes have been red and irritated.—A. E. H.
Answer—Never apply to the eyes a salt solution stronger than one teaspoonful of salt to the pint of boiled water. That is called "normal salt solution," and has about the salt strength of the tears, hence does not irritate.

The young fellows have a lot to learn from the old boys when it comes to telling fish stories. That's how Alfred Galpin, 784 Union-st., pioneer banker of Appleton, leads the group of tale tellers in the prize fish story contest conducted in these columns the last three weeks. The story, reprinted below, is a real specimen of the oldtime fish story that is fast becoming extinct. The prize fishing reel, awarded by the Appleton Sport Shop, is therefore awarded to Mr. Galpin. Other stories of especial merit were Fred V. Heinemann's tale about the dissected fish that stayed alive until it choked on a rope and the one told by George Chamberlain about the big pike he caught in a beer keg.

THE PRIZE FISH STORY
In the summer of 1859 I was fishing from a pier of the Lawest bridge. I caught a medium sized catfish. The hook was so far in his mouth that I cut his mouth about two inches wider. As he did not struggle, I trimmed his tail, rounding also the two front fins. As it was still passive, I cut on the top of his head "A. G.—59" and threw him back into the river.
I left Appleton in December, 1860, returning Sept. 1, 1871. In the summer of 1872 I went fishing for the first time since the summer of 1860 at the east end of the Avenue. Getting a slow heavy bite, I pulled in that identical catfish with rounded tail and fins and enlarged mouth. I looked at the top of his head. "A" and "9" were plain, but the "G" and "5" were scarcely recognizable. I then cut on the top of his head "72."
Now here comes the most incredible part of the story. I have never heard from him since.
A. GALPIN.

Factory Exodus From State Is Now Alarming

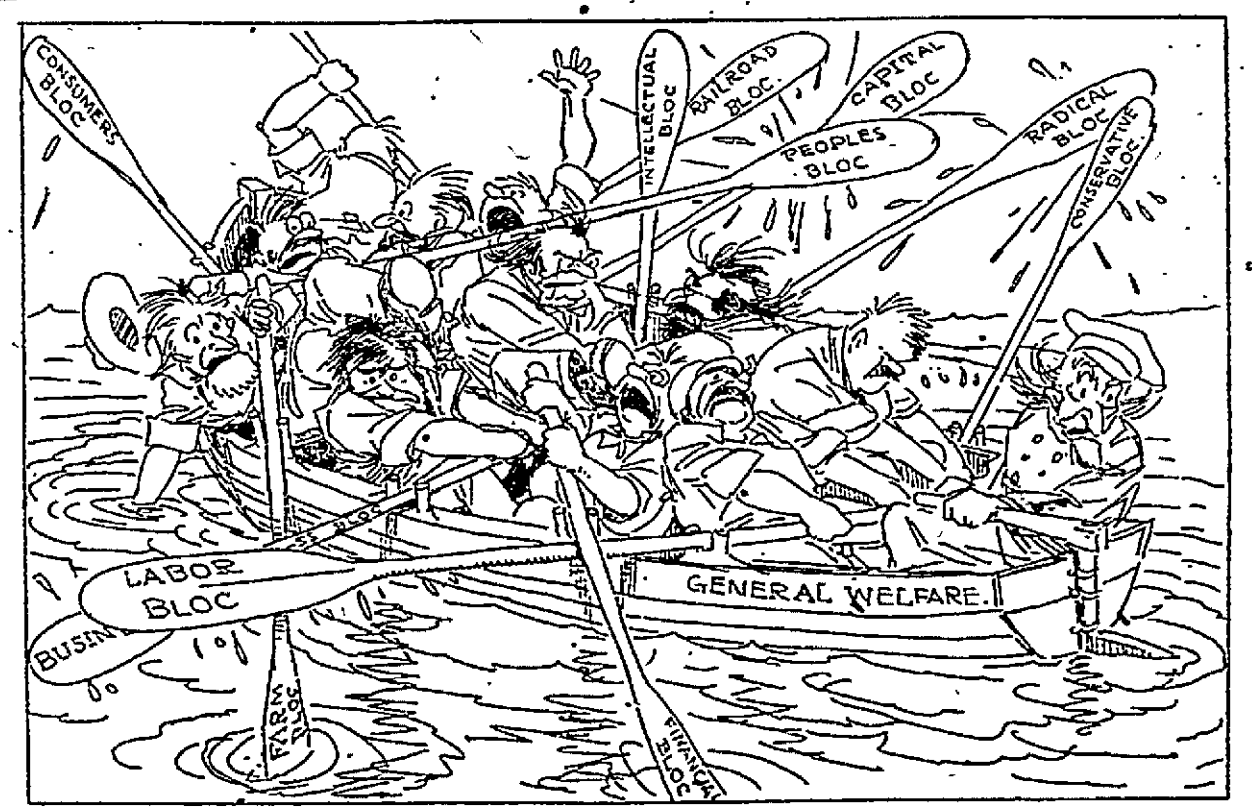

BY GLENN GRISWOLD
Wisconsin has been called the legislative laboratory of the nation. That laboratory has produced some legislative masterpieces. It has also produced legislation that dims the glory of its pioneering in public utility regulation, workmen's compensation, and agricultural promotion. Its taxes are of that unglorious sort.
There can be but one defensible purpose in taxation and that is the promotion of the public weal. Taxation that fails in this is subversive of good government and good business. Wisconsin tax laws must have fallen short of the mark, since they are driving business out of the state at a rate that must be alarming to those whose plants are predicated on abnormal tax receipts from business.
The most graphic illustration of Wisconsin tax situation is afforded by the statement of the Nash Motor Company, the largest taxpayer in the state, that its Wisconsin tax bill last year of $747,179 would have been $137,758, or about $609,000 less had the company's plants been located in Detroit.
Had they been in Lansing the tax bill would have been reduced by more than $670,000. It must be some strong tie that can justify Nash executives in paying this $670,000 tribute to the Wisconsin system of legislation; a strong tie, indeed, that can dissuade the company from a determination to move to Michigan.
TAXES IN SIX STATES
One company having large plants in states similar in all phases of operation finds that its tax bill in Wisconsin amounted to $98.36 for each man employed, as compared to $61.95 in New York, $46.12 in Massachusetts, $25.95 in Ohio, $17.74 in Pennsylvania and $15.46 in New Jersey.
Many companies can move to another state at once. Many important ones have gone. Many cannot move and others are held to their present grief by sentimental considerations.
Yet when any business now located in Wisconsin expands its natural course is to grow outside of Wisconsin.
Wisconsin has every natural advantage that should promote its industry. It has within its borders or is in close contact with some of the finest of iron mines, copper mines, forestry supplies and other raw materials. It is not far removed from abundant and cheap coal. It has better opportunity than most states for the development of water power.
FALL IN INDUSTRIAL RANK
In the face of these advantages the state fell from ninth to tenth place in the rank of industrial states in the five years ended with 1919. It stands last in the central states, although its natural advantages exceed those of most of those states. In the same five-year period Michigan gained a billion dollars in annual industrial output and Wisconsin gained $442,000,000.
Since 1919, Wisconsin has suffered industrial losses she cannot afford. She is threatened with other and greater losses. Many great industries which sell but a negligible portion of their products in the state and could obtain raw materials elsewhere to advantage are still hoping that a change for the better may come. It will be a long time before the next session of the legislature meets in Madison.
In the interim valued units in the industrial and civic life of the state will abandon it. If the next session of the legislature does not act to give equality and tax justice, Wisconsin's first duty state in the union and fifteenth or twentieth in rank of industry.

Canada is also very certain that she is a successful nation and, in general, on the right path. Rusty reactionaries or red revolutionaries may, trouble other less happy lands. The constitution of Canada or rather the various acts of parliament which serve for a constitution, is as near perfection as may be. On the whole it is even a little better than that of her nearest neighbor. So Canada is a nation.
Canada is a nation. It is true that a few of her public men feel impelled to deny this from time to time, but these denials are intended only as spurs to urge Canada to more emphatic nationhood. Canada has long ago made up her mind that she is a nation.
Now the only workable definition of a nation is that it is any body of people who have made up their minds.

WHILE A LITTLE PULLING TOGETHER WILL BRING US ALL TO LAND WITH ONE-TENTH THE EFFORT
The cartoon depicts a chaotic scene where various groups, each representing a different interest in society, are pulling on ropes that converge at a single point. The groups are labeled: CONSUMERS, LABOR, BUSINESS, CAPITAL, and PEOPLES BLOC. They are all pulling in different directions, some upwards, some downwards, some to the left, some to the right. The central point where the ropes meet is labeled 'THE GOVERNMENT'. The caption at the bottom reads: 'BUT IF EVERY ONE INSISTS ON PULLING IN HIS OWN SELFISH DIRECTION NOBODY WILL GET ANYWHERE'. Below the cartoon, there is a large, stylized signature 'H. B. S.' and the date '1923'.

Unusual People

SHE SMOKES 100 YEARS
Nashville, Tenn.—At the age of 14 "Aunt" Fanny Baker, a negress living here, started to smoke and chew tobacco. She kept it up for 100 years. Then two years ago, at the age of 114, her doctor told her that smoking and chewing were injurious to her health.
"Aunt" Fanny immediately "cut it out."
"The doctor sure am right," the aged woman contends.
If Fanny isn't the oldest living person in the south, she at least is in Nashville. She well can remember Presidents Lincoln, Andrew Jackson and Andrew Johnson.
Fanny was born in the same year as General Robert E. Lee, on the banks of the Appomattox river. Va., near Lee's home. But she never was a slave. Her "master" died before her birth, and left the stipulation all his slaves shall be free.
She has lived through every United States war except the Revolutionary.
Now, she still works, pulling wool, to support herself and her grandson. She likes to recall events that in others' lives are mere historic happenings. She remembers them well.
Four generations of her family have come. Forty-nine descendants still live.

S.E. Would Like Student Items

This is the season when boys and girls are going away to school. Many of their friends and acquaintances would be pleased to know where they are going and the easiest way to let them know is to telephone a personal letter to the Society Editor of the Post-Crescent. She is interested to get the news about all the young people and you may reach her by calling 543 between 8 and 12 o'clock in the morning.

Many people have the erroneous idea that unless the reporters call to ask for news items that they are not interested. The amount of news on the society page is limited only by the amount that can be located and written in the course of the morning. It is impossible to see or to telephone to more than a small percentage of the people in the city who have items of interest. Many people whom the S. E. calls occasionally complain that she does not call when they could tell her something. This should be remedied by calling 543.

Remember that the Society Editor will always be pleased to have you call her.

3 Artists Will Take Pupils Here

Opportunity For Musical Greatness Will Be Brought To Local Aspirants

Placing opportunity at the feet of the Appleton violinist or cellist in the fullness of music mastery rather than having the pupil seek the artist is the plan which F. H. Jebe of this city hopes to accomplish here within the next few weeks.

His undertaking means that three of the artists who are recognized without question among those prominent in the musical realm will make visits here once a week to teach those whose skill and training have reached the point where they are ready to ascend to the field of the greatest in music.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederik Frederiksen of Milwaukee, will give violin instruction, while Robert Ambrosius of Chicago will teach cello playing to those ready for highly advanced training.

Mr. Frederiksen has been a teacher of violin in Milwaukee since 1915. He had a notable career previously in Europe, where he was named and received his training. He had the honor of appearing before King Oscar of Sweden in recital. The violinist also has figured prominently in symphony orchestras here and abroad. His wife, Mrs. Grace Henshaw-Frederiksen, was the first holder of the Liszt scholarship of the Royal Academy of Music and has appeared with her husband in many concerts. They are associated with the Wisconsin College of Music, Milwaukee.

Mr. Ambrosius is a brilliant concert artist and has among his other musical achievements the honor of being soloist for Chicago Symphony orchestra and has appeared in ensembles with such famous players as Harold Bauer. He always has maintained an interest in the teaching of cello and his pupils, as well as those of the Frederiksen's are among those who are advancing to musical fame.

It is the belief of Mr. Jebe that there are prospective artists in the Fox river valley whose ability can be developed if they have the opportunity of instruction by the masters. Some cannot leave home or expend the funds required to go to Milwaukee, Chicago, or other musical centers to take this training and he is confident his plan as offered to musicians of this locality will help to establish the valley on a higher plane as a musical center.

SEEK EIGHT RECRUITS HERE FOR REGULAR ARMY

Forty-one men are to be enlisted in the army from the Fox River valley during the month of September according to the quota for this state. Every effort is being made by the recruiting stations throughout the country to have the army up to full strength by the time that 7,400 men are released from service at the expiration of their enlistment on June 30.

Because Gen. John Pershing retires from active service this month, an attempt is being made to make September the banner recruiting month. Oshkosh is allotted 15 in the quota. Green Bay and Appleton and Fond du Lac has 5 each.

Club Girls Will Hold 'Pep' Hour

Teams of Appleton Womans club recreation department will have a "pop" meeting in the Playhouse at 7:30 Monday evening to get started on the department's campaign for membership which opened Monday and will continue two weeks. Speeches will be made by the captains of eight teams and talking points for members will be given.

Stress is being placed by the recreation department on its added facilities since it has not only the clubhouse but the Playhouse available for its activities. A great many more members can be accommodated this year than at any time in the past.

Fun And Hunger Dominate Rain At H.S. Picnic

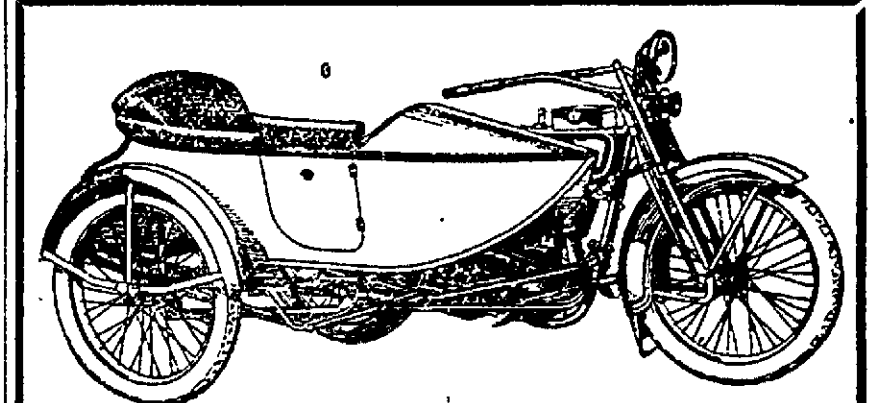

A little thing, like a torrent of rain, does not stop the high school teachers from having a picnic or at least it did not on Saturday when the teachers were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Rasey at a steak fry across the lake a short distance from Harrison. The trip was made by truck in spite of the rain early in the afternoon and by the time the picnic grounds were reached, the weather had cleared.

So hungry were the teachers that all thought of baseball games and entertainment was abandoned in the scramble to get the dinner ready to serve. Three fires were built and those who usually make their living by passing out knowledge in class rooms demonstrated that they are good short order cooks on occasion. After basketfuls of food had disappeared, the mentors gathered around the fires and sang songs for awhile before their return to the city.

HASKIN UNMISTAKABLY IS HUMAN ENCYCLOPEDIA

While one man asked how steel wool was made, a woman reader of the Post-Crescent asked Frederic J. Haskin, director of the Appleton Post-Crescent information bureau, why she had such poor luck with her bread. Still another woman asked about the brothers and sisters of a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

The total inquiries from Post-Crescent readers was 52 for the two weeks ending Aug. 23. The number of letters received was 29 and six questions were answered and 46 bulletins were sent out.

1924 Harley-Davidson 74 Model

Police officers prefer the Harley-Davidson 74 model for speed work. It is also a big favorite with sidecar motorcyclists who want power to spare.

This 1924 Harley-Davidson 74 model with its new aluminum alloy piston motor steps away faster and holds its speed longer. New aluminum alloy pistons with special piston rings and drilled connecting rods cut vibration in half and throw off heat faster.

An average increase in speed of five miles per hour with sidecar and ten miles per hour riding solo over our former cast iron piston motors may be expected with this new motor, when once properly run in.

The new color combination—Olive Green with Maroon stripe—matches the zip and go of the powerful, smooth running motor of this 74 model.

Model 61—Price $320.00 Model 74—Price $345.00

STATE REQUIRES PHONE RESTORED TO B. H. DINY HOME

Railroad Commission Adjusts
Disagreement Between Two Companies

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Oneda — Restoration of telephone service to the home of B. H. Diny within 20 days has been ordered by the Wisconsin railroad commission as the result of a hearing held at the courthouse at Green Bay June 23, 1923.

The service had been discontinued because of a disagreement between Oneda Telephone company and Freedom Mutual Telephone company as to rates for use of the latter's poles by the latter in order to obtain contact between the Oneda exchange and the Diny residence.

Joseph McCormick and Patrick H. Gervy appeared at the hearing in June on behalf of Freedom Mutual Telephone company and G. L. Morgan appeared for Oneda Telephone company. B. H. Diny appeared in his own behalf.

The decision of the railroad commission reads in part:
"The contract is perfectly good so far as compensation or the terms upon which the use of poles, one company by the other, is concerned, but so far as the use of one utility by another is concerned, that is a matter under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission. The law provides one company may use the poles of another, and that if the two companies cannot agree upon the compensation then the commission will determine what the statutes provide may be done, and that is what a portion of this contract attempts to do and that is what it was thought should be done."
"The expense necessary to provide for contact of the Oneda company's wires with the Freedom Mutual Telephone company or for the installing of new poles of its own is not so great as to warrant the discontinuance of the service to B. H. Diny, and the commission finds that such service should be restored. The Oneda Telephone company is therefore hereby ordered to restore telephone service to B. H. Diny and 20 days from date of this order is a reasonable time within which to restore the same."

Five Kromer Recruits Do Good Work For Kaukauna On Home Diamond

Kaukauna—Four of Eddie Stumpf's Kaukauna team of the Wisconsin State league sandwiched with five youngsters from Stormy Kromer's Corners of the Home Players league defeated Marinette-Menominee Sunday afternoon by a score of 7 to 6. The northerners were held to five hits during the fracas. Ray Gertz, pitcher for Kromer's outfit, took the rubber in the last frame and succeeded in retiring two batters. His control was poor, however, and he walked two men and allowed a scratch hit. After Phillips' wild throw in an attempt to make a double killing and which allowed a runner to score, Stumpf thought it best to recall Trentman from left field. Trentman walked the batter filling the bags and the next man doubled, chasing in three runners. Two scores garnered in the sixth and seventh frames made a total of six for the visitors.

Ratchesen, playing short stop, scored for the locals in the second frame when he doubled to the fence, took third on a past ball and crossed the platter when Reinhard attempted to catch Stumpf stealing second after the latter had secured a base on balls.

Stumpf scored in the fourth when he singled and scored on Macrorie's single through first, aided by Boyle's error at third. In the fifth round Lewis singled, stole second and scored on Phillips' pop-up back of second base.

In the lucky seventh Saxton, pitching for the visitors, retired Trentman and Gertz. Then Lewis and Phillips singled. Johnson was safe on Desoitte's error in center field. Ratchesen connected with his second double and Stumpf singled through third base. Zink ended the slaughter by driving out to the right field fence where Kreuz camped under the ball. Four runs were registered in that spurt.

Trentman pitched masterly ball and kept Bresnahan's men in check. Errors on the part of the recruits, however, placed Big Bob in the hole several times. Nine mistakes were chalked up against the locals.

LEGION GRIDDERS ASSEMBLE TONIGHT

Players Who Want To Try For This Years Team Meet At Legion Hall

Kaukauna—Candidates for the Kaukauna American Legion amateur football team will meet for the first time this season Monday evening at the legion hall on the island. The meeting will be merely a get-together. Practice will begin later at the ball park where flood lights will be installed so that the workouts may be continued after dark.

Prospects for another strong eleven this season are good. W. F. Ashe, who will coach the aggregation, expects about 75 candidates to respond Monday evening. The fact that the team lost but three or four games in three years and has claimed the amateur championship of Wisconsin for two years makes it a desirable organization for football men.

If it can be arranged, two teams will be formed from the material which turns out for practice. It has been the custom of the coach to give all men a turn in the lineup during the battles, but that will hardly be possible with the number who are expected to appear for the first time Monday evening.

WOMAN'S NEW BOOK ON CHINA REVEALS CHARM OF ORIENT

Number By Elizabeth Enders At Appleton Public Library
Has Many Admirers

To really know China, to read the veil of mystery shrouding it from western eyes—such was the thought of Elizabeth Crump Enders who wrote "Swinging Lanterns," one of the books which was most popular last week at Appleton public library. Her pages carry you along the road of understanding, of curious, alluring orientalisms to a truly remarkable degree. For during residence and travels in the land she saw the highways and byways of China.

There is Shanghai, the Orient's cosmopolitan city, with all its teeming life of commerce blended with much of the old Chinese. Pootung, ancient walled city, where narrow streets admit no sunlight and where a golden image of Marco Polo is throned in the vast temple; Peking, an alluring city of amazing palaces, golden temple roofs, great gray walls and ancient customs still surviving. The author carries one directly to these strange, far scenes, witnessing unusual sights such as the "devil dances" of the Yellow Llama Temple never before described.

She tells of a river trip to Nanking, all the way a series of striking scenes and a trip on donkey back to the heart of the western hills. The fairy like city of Hangchow, called "one foot from Heaven" with its pleasure gardens, temples and shrines is visited. Everywhere strange ceremonies and curious bits of life are exhibited whether penetrating inland waterways in a houseboat or being borne in sedan chairs to lofty mountain shrines.

In the end a visit to the Sacred Isle of Pootung is recorded, with life in its lovely temple, long summers days tramping in its emerald hills and visiting its gorgeous temples, revelling in the bathing on beaches, yellow as powdered gold and soft as moss.

The other non-fiction book in greatest demand last week was "The Life of Christ" by Papini.

"The Covered Wagon" by Hough was the most popular fiction number last week at the library. It is a book which has been much discussed and recently has received fame in the movies. The other books for the last week were "The Bloom of Life" by Florence and "1492" by Johnston. "The Bloom of Life" is a story which appears on the list of most popular fiction numbers for the first time.

Man Who Helped Usher Movies Into Being Will Make Home In Appleton

Frank Cook, Pioneer in Theatrical Circles, Was Builder of Saxe Chain-Of Houses—Will Operate Remodeled Bijou Here

The career of Frank Cook who comes to Appleton to operate the remodeled Bijou theater is that of one of the pioneers of moviedom. He not only managed the first motion picture in Milwaukee but helped build up the Saxe Brothers interests from a small theater to one of the largest chains of motion picture houses.

Mr. Cook dates his connection with the movies to the days before they took the form of silent drama. It was in the days of "one-reelers" having no particular plot but being a mere series of varied actions, such as moving trains, runaway horses, fire engines hurrying to a fire and dogs jumping over a fence.

Prior to his debut in the motion picture field, Mr. Cook was engaged in managing various novelty exhibitions. He started out about thirty years ago with Robert S. Dingsus of the Four Paw circus and then drifted into the field of legitimate drama. For some time he was advertising manager of G. M. Hill's Union Square theater in New York when it presented such well known stars as Margaret Mather, Murray and Murphy, Helen Barry, the English actress, and others.

WAS EXPOSITION MAN
At the Pan-American exposition in 1901 he was in charge of one of the exhibitions on the Midway known as "Barnes' Diving Elks." It was a wild water sports show. At the Charleston exposition he was with E. W. McConnell on the Midway. After that he was with Bostick's trained wild animal show.

At one time he presented a mechanical show, known as "A Day in the Alps," an exhibition that was the precursor of the motion pictures. By means of moving mechanical figures and electrical effects he portrayed life in the Alps in a realistic way. He also lectured in Wonderland park in Milwaukee on "The Johnstown Flood," another mechanical exhibition.

The fall of 1902 brought Mr. Cook to Milwaukee where he remained for nearly 20 years managing leading motion picture houses. His first venture in this field was with the Saxe Brothers "Hale's Tours of the World," a traveling railroad theater car which was converted into a stationary theater in Milwaukee and dubbed the "Theatrum." This was the first motion picture theater in Milwaukee. Pictures were shown at the price of 5 cents admission.

by Saxe Brothers into movie house called the Orpheum. It had but one row of seats, yet here bankers, clerks, professional men and laborers mingled in a form of freemasonry that the first movies created.

One-reel pictures were shown, and there were from three to four reels a night. When Mr. Cook had four reels of Pathe pictures to present he felt as if he was giving a Barnum show, he said. There were no attractive posters or photographs. The advertising was painted by hand.

BANDITS FOILED IN BANK ROBBERY

By Associated Press
Madison—Robbers broke into the Morrisonville State bank at Morrisonville, Dane co Friday night, knocked the combination off the outer door of the bank vault, and then were frightened away before obtaining anything of value.

Two floaters, who drifted into the village Friday, are being sought by the sheriff as responsible for the attempted robbery.

of motion picture theaters was the evolution of the Saxe interests itself, according to the dramatic critics of Milwaukee. He has named the Lyric, Orpheum, Princess, Strand, Alhambra and Rialto theaters successively.

PROMOTED "PASSION PLAY"
He had the honor of presenting the first feature picture in Milwaukee. It was "The Passion Play," which ran in the Lyric for 14 consecutive weeks. "It would be running today," says Mr. Cook, "if they hadn't replevined it and took it away from us."

Mr. Cook was in charge of the motion pictures of the famous Nelson-Gans fight, the first pictures of a prominent prize fight. He also lectured on the Getch-Hackenschmidt wrestling match. For some time Mr. Cook was the booking manager of nine of Saxe's theaters.

His latest enterprise for the Saxe people was in managing the Strand theater in Green Bay. He comes to Appleton to manage the Bijou theater, and in doing so, he for the first time embarks on an enterprise of his own.

60,000 Marks - On This Letter From Germany

If letters from Germany last week carried postage amounting to 2,000 marks that record has been broken by a letter that was received from that country Saturday by Mrs. Mildred Gardner, policewoman. The envelope bore 20 stamps, each of 3,000 mark denomination. It is presumed that the postage standards were raised to that amount last week. It prewar American money, the postage on this letter would have amounted to more than $14,000.

SHEET MUSIC DEVELOPS NO NEW POPULAR SELLER

There was no outstanding number in sheet music last week at the local music stores. Instead a variety of pieces was equally popular. Outside of five well known selections which have been in demand for some time there was nothing prominent in sheet music and no new hit. The numbers which were such good sellers for last week were "Anabelle," "Dreamy Melody," "My Sweetie Went Away," "Drifting Back to Dreamland" and "I Never Miss the Sunshine."

The five best sellers at the four music stores handling sheet music were:

Carroll—Anabelle, Long Lost Melody, Dreamy Melody, My Sweetie Went Away, I Never Miss the Sunshine.

Meyer-Seeger—When Will the Sun Shine for Me, Foolish Child, Marcheta, Drifting Back to Dreamland, Anabelle.

Irving Zuehlke—Drifting Back to Dreamland, Sunset Trail of Gold, Anabelle, My Sweetie Went Away, Stingo Stungo.

Miss S. E. Anderson — My Dream Sweetheart, Dreamy Melody, That Red Head Gal, I Never Miss the Sunshine, Bad News Blues.

Be Well--- Why Not ?

Don't envy the man or woman who has good health. Do the things that are necessary and create a little health of your own. You can.

There are many things that you can do for yourself that will improve your physical and mental condition, but if you are suffering from a chronic ailment or weakness which handicaps your efforts and keeps you half-fit when you want to be wholly fit, then call for a spinal analysis. It locates the cause of chronic weakness, and spinal adjustments applied with skill remove the cause.

Fond du Lac Man Tells of Surprising Gains

"I could notice a big difference on my first bottle of Tanlac, and I don't believe I could feel any better than I do now," said S. F. Duell, 1005 Wisconsin Ave., North Fond du Lac, Wis. "Nearly all last winter I felt weak and draggy and when spring broke I didn't feel fit for anything. My appetite left me, what little I ate soured on my stomach and made me miserable from gas bloating. I had dizzy headaches, felt lousy and when I got home from work I didn't even have energy for a spin."

"I am on my third bottle of Tanlac now and am eating hearty, am rid of the sour stomach and gas and the headaches and dizziness. I get real pleasure from driving now. Tanlac has also rid me of constipation, of thirty-five years' standing. There's nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

THE YELLOW SEVEN. A GAME OF CHANCE.

BY EDMUND SNELL.

"Hence the Yellow Seven," he continued. "It is I who decide upon our victims, but the hand that carries out the death penalty is rarely mine. The matter is decided by a form of lottery. The Yellow Seven is mixed with other cards and those who at that moment form my bodyguard draw from it in turn. The thing is done quite openly and the sign of our society left pinned to the victim."

The major's throat had gone suddenly dry. His glance dropped from the broad yellow face to the black sling in which the hand's arm reposed.

Chai-Hung began speaking again, with a guttural metallic harshness that jarred on Armitage.

"Whatever my enemies may have told you, Major Armitage, I am at heart a sportsman and, although I must frankly confess the insult to my intelligence the nature of your expedition against me seemed to imply, I was tempted, there still remains enough that is good in my nature to appreciate your daring. The eyes that fixed themselves upon Armitage's monocled countenance glowed like live coals. "I was sorely tempted to return insult for insult—and let you go free; for I do not fear you poor fool, nor—if this were my only stronghold—would I be afraid you could find your way here again. I was tempted. I repeated until I remembered my left hand. It was taken from me, as you may have heard, by one of your agents—one Fabel Pili. You can hardly blame me, Major Armitage, if I tell you I have sworn an oath to sever the left hand from any British agent who may fall into my hands."

Armitage did not lack courage. He returned the other's gaze. "I see," he said reflectively. "You propose turning me adrift in my unknown territory—minus my hand. And you claim to be a sportsman! I tell you what we'll do, Mr. Chai-Hung. My Chinese interpreter—Sing-Ho—introduced me to a pleasant little game of chance, which should not be unknown to you. You will find it on the top of that cupboard where your card deposited my effects. I'll play you for my hand. Mr. Chai-Hung! It is the game of the little black and red cube and the brass box. The red shall signify my hand. My I trouble you for my pencil and one of those folded sheets of paper I carried."

The high-backed chair creaked as Chai-Hung's back met it.

"You are a brave man, Major Armitage. We will play this game."

He touched a brass gong at his side and the attendant entered quietly. "Bring me the game that you took from the English gentleman, the pencil and his note-book."

Without a tremor Armitage set the little brass box squarely in the center of the paper and drew lines from each corner of the thing to the corresponding corners of the sheet. Round the box itself he marked a square and lifted the lid to show the cube resting firmly in its slot in the inner portion. He slid back the top and turned the box over and over between his fingers.

"The red will face this square," declared Chai-Hung, indicating the section with a finger of enormous length.

Taking the cover between finger and thumb, Armitage lifted slowly. He paused midway, conscious that the man who sat opposite had turned sharply toward the door. Suddenly the Oriental sprang to his feet—his whole being consumed with fury—and clutched with his single hand at a sword that hung from a gilded scabbard.

"We do not continue the game," Major Armitage, he hissed. "Because your men are at my gates. He swung the weapon aloft. "It is they you must thank for this!"

Throwing all dignity to the winds, Major James Lacy Armitage dived under the table, and the blow descended upon its upper surface with terrific force. As Chai-Hung strove to disengage the weapon, a bullet shattered a mirror behind him.

Armitage crawled from his refuge to find the room empty, the sentry gone and the amiable features of the interpreter—Sing-Ho—regarding him through the window.

Still crouching on his hands and knees he blinked up at the face. "Sing-Ho!"

Pennington smiled. "Or, in other words," he murmured sweetly, "the man who is bungling this Yellow Seven affair hopelessly—Chinese Pennington!"

"The Silver Hand," the next episode of this gripping series, will start in our next issue.

THE YELLOW SEVEN. THE SILVER HAND.

BY EDMUND SNELL.

ILLUSTRATED BY
R.M. SATTENFIELD

© NEA SERVICE, INC. 1923

This unusual series of stories deals with the exploits of "Chinese" Pennington, a detective sent by his government to British North Borneo to run to earth The Yellow Seven, a band of Chinese bandits.

Dennis Moorhouse—District officer at Bukit-Ram—lay at full length on a long cane chair. In a hole in the arm of the chair rested a glass and, a few inches distant from Moorhouse's stockinged feet, reposed a pair of muddy riding boots. A black chow sat cowering at the forepaws at the top of the steps, passing every now and then to raise its head and growl at the slightest sound that waited upward from the night-scrubbed clearing.

Dennis Moorhouse—refreshed by a bath of hot water laded over himself from a preposterous earthenware jar of native manufacture, felt at peace with all men. He was a tall, thin, amiable specimen of humanity with fair hair that was wearing thin on the crown. Functioning as a magistrate on the edge of the beyond, where ninety-nine out of a hundred men would have warped, become morbid, or drunk themselves into oblivion, this cheery philosopher had succeeded in steering a middle course. Moorhouse—with his black dog at his heels—was as welcome in a Borneo town-house as in the bungalow of the Commissioner of Police.

Under normal conditions, it might not unreasonably be assumed that Moorhouse—reclining in glorious idleness after a strenuous day spent in the sweltering court-house—was dreaming of home or of the white girl whose photograph occupied a sole and prominent position on his dressing-table, but the girl in the ebullient frame was his sister, and the district officer had no home other than the one he now occupied. As a matter of fact, he was thinking of the dusky Dyak belle who had danced before the assembled chiefs in the Kampon at the other side of the valley when the rice-harvest was completed; a shapely, alluring female with an independent swing of shoulders and features that would have done credit to a Western beauty. Moorhouse had been present at this dance, showing his white teeth when the young warriors—drunk with samu—urged their water buffaloes across the open wastes and mildly applauding the crazy posturing of women who danced with human heads.

Then, just as he had made up his mind to pay his respects to his hosts and depart, the wonder-woman from the forests had whirled into the firelight. He remembered her afterward as a vision encased in a sarong of shimmering green, with a single bracelet of gold at either wrist, her dark hair secured by a dagger of which both the point and the jeweled hilt were distinctly visible. Moving miraculously still, her hands were hidden by wonderfully fashioned gauntlets of silver, each wrought to resemble the form of the hand itself. Her dance had culminated in a sort of furious stampede, she had fallen prostrate before the semicircle of gaping headmen, then crawled with the lithe, sinuous movements of a snake toward the spot where the Englishman sat. Before he could forestall her, two warm arms had encircled his ankles and lustreous, mocking eyes were fixed upon his face.

"Great Tuan-Hakim, one of these days you may have need of me!"

Appleton was defeated, 8 to 5 by the Green Bay club Sunday. A flood of errors helped the Lynchmen considerably to gain their victory but another factor seemed to be the poor eyesight of Umpire Resch of Menasha. A free for all fight in which hundreds of fans surged all over the field helped to spoil the game. Feeling on both sides was running high after the Lynchmen had scored six runs in the sixth, added by two palpably unfair decisions by Resch, and a particularly abusive term hurled at one of the Appleton substitutes by Britz who was coaching at first started the row. Skill, the Appleton sub, rushed up to the Green Bay first baseman and hit him on the jaw. Several of the players of both teams ran up to separate the two combatants, but were then forced by the host of fans who invaded the field and showed a sharp inclination to join in the battle. For five or ten minutes it looked as though a general fight might be in progress, but with the aid of the players and one lonely cop the diamond was cleared without casualties. Britz and Skill shook hands, and the contest proceeded to its end.

ONE RUN FOR INVADERS

The Papermakers scored their first tally in the initial stanza when Britz muffed a hot one poked to first by Marty Lamers who reached second while the first baseman was trying to recover the ball. Brautigan slammed a liner to Bergner at third, who also missed it, giving Marty time to reach the rubber. The side was retired without a further run. Stock struck out the first two Lynchmen who came up to bat and walked Williams, the third man up. A stolen base and a single by J. Reik scored him. Weisgerber's homer over the centerfield barrier in the second again gave Appleton a lead, which was further increased in the fourth when Amby, who had singled to centerfield was sent across the rubber by Wenzel's two-bagger.

The Lynchmen got their second hit of the game in the fifth, but were retired without scoring when the three next batters were retired without having seen first.

FATAL SIXTH
Then came the fatal sixth. Brautigan was walked, and Les Smith sacrificed him to second. An overthrow by Britz to third gave Brautigan a chance, and he crossed the home plate for the fourth Appleton tally. Ted Lamers struck out and Weisgerber fled into Deschitz's mitt.

Barbeau started the Lynchmen's half of the sixth with a single through third. Chief Williams followed with a hit to first base, and Reik's two-bagger scored Barbeau and advanced Williams to third. Bergner was the next man up. He tapped a bounder to Ted Lamers who fumbled for a moment but beat Bergner to first with his throw by a two foot margin. Resch, however, called the runner safe. Tony Schultz forced the three men ahead of him, when he hit a fast one to Brautigan, who threw Williams out at home. Stock walked Britz who was next in line, forcing in a tally and advancing Bergner and Schultz to third and second. White forced the men ahead of him when he tapped the ball to Brautigan, who threw to Wenzel.

Wenzel muffed the ball and allowed Bergner to score. Schultz to score. Smith poked the ball to Brautigan who threw to Wenzel and the ball beat Britz in by a mile. Wenzel who was standing on the rubber, did not want to touch Britz, but threw to first and although his throw also beat Smith to the initial sack, Resch called both Britz and Smith safe. Stock walked Deschitz forcing White to third and Smith to second, and White scored when Brautigan muffed a three base grounder to Marty Lamers. After Smith had crossed the plate, Marty's throw beat Deschitz from retiring the side.

In the seventh Schultz's two-bagger nearly scored another for the Lynchmen, but Britz's error was stepped by Ted Lamers and Britz never reached first.

ATTEMPTED RALLY
The Papermakers started a rally in the eighth. Marty Lamers and a life. Silvester advanced him to second with a single. Brautigan walked and Les Smith sacrificed. Brautigan's home Ted Lamers tapped a grounder to third, forcing the play to Wenzel. Brautigan was caught and a thrower was put out between third and home. Weisgerber struck out and the side was retired.

No further runs were scored during the rest of the game.

Chicago—Charles F. Ryan of Gulf form, overcame a lead of five points piled up by his opponent and won the national championship of the Amateur Bicycle League of America in the senior event, by 13 points. Samuel Dowell of Ohio won the national championship with 12 points.

Factory League Leaders Play Five Fast Innings In Saturday Downpour

Kimberly-Clark humbled Combined Locks, 2 to 1, Saturday afternoon, in the only game played on the Factory circuit. All the other contests scheduled were called off because of rain, while the two league leaders did not permit that to stop them. They played five innings in spite of the showers. The game was a pitchers' duel.

Combined Locks scored the first run of the contest in the third stanza, when Marty Lamers' overthrow drove in a runner. Kimberly's overtook him in the next inning and led the score, 1 to 1. Both teams shut down after this tally, and neither scored in scoring up to the eighth, when Kodal poked the apple for two bases with two men on ahead of him, and scored one run. Superb pitching prevented the Kimberly tribe from copying any more tallies, and the contest ended, 2 to 1, in favor of the Kimberly-Clarks.

Control Main Reason Stars Head Win List

Why are Babe Adams and Grover Cleveland Alexander, two veteran pitchers of the National league, right up among the leaders in games won?

The answer is control. These two great pitchers have the happy faculty of getting the ball over. The opposition must earn their way on the bases with Adams or Alexander pitching.

The National League averages reveal some interesting facts relative to these two great pitchers. Adams, in winning 13 out of his 17 games, gave only 17 bases on balls, an average of one a game.

Alexander, always noted for his steadiness, boasts an even better record for control. In winning 18 of his first 25 games, Alexander passed only 19 men, considerably less than one a game.

Control: That is why Adams, past the 40 mark, and Alexander, on the way to that figure, are still pitching winning ball. When they work there isn't any wasted energy. They get the ball over—make the batters earn their way on.

One Eddie Dyer, a Callow rookie, pitched his first game in the majors for the St. Louis Nationals and did it so well, that he calmed the slumping Chicago Cubs, 3 to 0.

The New York Americans continue to make something of a runaway race at this league. During the week they won five out of seven games, though Washington made the best showing dropping but one contest out of six.

Dover, England—Charles Toth of Boston swam the English channel in 16 hours and 40 minutes.
